

Share Your Experience With Long COVID Rehabilitation

Volunteer by Feb. 16, 2024

Who: The American Physical Therapy Association is looking for people who are currently receiving, or have recently received, physical, occupational, or speech therapy, or other rehabilitative care for their long COVID symptoms.

What: Volunteers will participate in a virtual, recorded interview that will be shared with government officials and health care leaders at a long COVID rehabilitation summit meeting this spring.

Why: Hearing individual experiences will increase understanding and may help improve the patient care journey for others.

Details: Estimated time commitment: 30-minute recording, with questions to be shared in advance.

Volunteers will be asked to agree to and sign a consent and release form.
